

SRI MANIK RAO PATIL.—It appears that the Government has taken a decision in principle to constitute CADA to almost all river basins existing in the State. In view of this will the Government think of constituting a similar authority for the Cauvery basin for the development of existing projects and also future projects?

SRI K. H. RANGANATH.—The CADA authority now proposed is for Malaprabha, Gataprabha, Tungabhadra and Uppar Krishna areas. As far as the suggestion made by the hon. Member whether the Cauvery project would come under the CADA, it is a suggestion for action and Government would consider when the projects are taken up.

SRI MANIK RAO PATIL.—They have stated that Malaprabha, Gataprabha, Tungabhadra, Cauvery basin projects etc., without referring to any particular project. It means the Government has taken a decision to constitute CADA for various basins existing in the State. Therefore, I would like to know there is Godavari basin in the State. Will the Government think of having similar CADA for Godavari basin also?

SRI K. H. RANGANATH.—I said yes, in fact the CADA authority is formed on basin-wise. We have formed the CADA specially for the major irrigation project. And in respect of the medium irrigation projects which are under consideration, three tanks have already been executed. In fact the Government is thinking of CADA in respect of Godavari basin also.
